ABOUT LAURA

Laura Robertson is an entrepreneur, author, business coach, branding strategist, speaker, and community leader whose story is rooted in resilience, reinvention, and purpose. Born into homelessness near a refugee camp and arriving in America as a Lao refugee with only forty dollars and a dream, Laura has built multiple businesses while helping others turn pain into purpose, strengthen their brand, and step boldly into their future. Her message blends lived experience with practical strategy, leaving audiences inspired, empowered, and ready to take action.
